Preface

Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation has decided to initiate various measures to implement the UN Handbook on Non Profit Institutions (NPIs), which include computerisation of the records of Registrars of societies on NPIs, and compilation of satellite accounts for the NPI sector in India.

State DESs are entrusted to conduct the Survey on NPIs. The CSO has proposed to undertake this project and the survey is proposed to be conducted in two phases. i.e. listing and detailed survey.

This report is prepared on the basis of first phase of the project in which data is collected from the Registrar offices in the districts. I hope that this report will give insight to Non Profit Institutions in Kerala registered under different Acts

I use this opportunity to place on record all officers engaged in the preparation of this report and invite valuable suggestions for improving this report in future.

Chapter I

Introduction

The Handbook on non-profit institutions in the system of national accounts recommends statistical standards and guidelines for the development of data on Non Profit Institutions (NPIs) within the System of National Accounts (SNA). The fundamental aim of the Handbook is to answer to the growing interest that statisticians, policy makers and social scientists have in organizations that are neither market firms nor state agencies. It has been prepared to help national statistical offices to collect and provide more comprehensive data on nonprofit institutions in an attempt to respond to the analytical needs of policy makers who are searching for ways to improve public services and reduce the size of the government. Because of their distinctive features as private institutions serving the public purposes, they offer advantages which explain recent initiatives to promote NPIs and increase the need for better information on this set of institutions and the role that they play in particular fields (health, education, social services)

The Handbook gives guidelines for the establishment of a NPI satellite account by regrouping those non profit units that are assigned to other institutional sectors in the SNA together with those of the existing (but not fulfilled by all countries) the non profit institutions serving households sector into one single NPI sector.

1.1 Main features of the Handbook on Nonprofit Institutions in the system of National Accounts:

Definition of the Non Profit Institutions

The SNA defines NPI as:

“Non Profit Institutions are legal or social entities created for the purpose of producing goods and services whose status does not permit them to be a source of income, profit or other financial gain for the units that establish, control or finance them. In practice their productive activities are bound to generate either surpluses or deficits but any surpluses they happen to make cannot be appreciated by other institutional units.”

Thus working definition of the NPI is the following:

- a) Organizations
- b) Not-for-profit and by law or custom and non-profit distributing.
- c) Institutionally separate from government.
- d) Self-governing.
- e) Non-compulsory.

1.2 Non-profit Institutions-Satellite Accounts

Satellite accounts are recognised internationally as a way of rearranging existing information in the national accounts so that an area of particular economic or social importance, such as non-profit institutions, can be analyzed more closely. Links are maintained between the satellite accounts and the central national accounting framework. This is important as it enables new information to be presented alongside standard economic measures such as Gross Domestic Product (GDP). The United Nations (UN) Handbook on Non-Profit Institutions in the System of National Accounts has been used as a guide in compiling the satellite account. The UN Handbook recommends statistical standards and guidelines for the development of data on non-profit institutions. It was prepared as collaboration between the John Hopkins University center for civil society studies and the Economic statistics Branch of UN statistics division in response to the growing interest in institutions that are referred to as Non-profit, voluntary or non-governmental and that are not in a single economic sector under the System of National Accounts.

The NPISA includes information about non-profit institutions such as cultural societies, sports, clubs, social service institutions, private schools and hospitals, churches, environmental lobby groups, trade unions, political parties and charitable trusts.

The data includes the following financial and non-financial information:

- 1 Total income and its components (sales, donations, grants, investment)
- 2 Total expenditure and its components (salaries and wages, donations, grants etc)
- 3 Operating surplus and savings
- 4 Number of institutions by type (environment, health, social services etc)
- 5 Number of paid employees.
- 6 Number of Volunteers.

1.3 Need for Satellite Accounts on NPIs

Although section assignment makes sense for many analytical purposes, it makes it difficult to gain a comprehensive view of the entire universe of NPIs. Gaining such a view increasingly important, for number of reasons. Those reasons include the following.

- (a) NPIs constitute a significant and growing economic presence in countries throughout the world, accounting 7-10 % of non-agricultural employment in many developed countries and considerable share of the employed labour force in developing as well.
- (b) NPIs have distinct features that give them production functions and other characteristics that differ significantly from those of the other entities included in the corporate and government sectors to which they are assigned under current usage. Those features include:
  - (i) The prohibition on the distribution of profits from their operations, which gives them an objective function quite different from that of for-profit corporations;
  - (ii) Their involvement in the production of public goods in addition to whatever private goods they may produce;

- (iii) A revenue structure that generally includes substantial voluntary contributions time and money;
  - (iv) The use of volunteer as well as paid staff;
  - (v) Limited access to enquiry capital because of the prohibition on their distribution of profits;
  - (vi) Eligibility of special tax advantage in many countries;
  - (vii) Special legal provisions pertaining to governance, reporting requirements, political participation and related matters;
  - (viii) The lack of sovereign governmental powers despite their involvement in public goods provision;
- (c) NPIs are increasingly a focus of policy attention as governments seek to divert social functions to provide groups, which has increased the need for better information on NPIs;
- (d) Existing treatment, by folding NPIs into other sectors, reduces the incentives to make the special efforts needed to capture NPIs fully in current data;
- (e) Existing sectoral rules are hard to apply given the increasing complexity of NPI universe. Considerable variation in treatment may consequently occur among countries.

The NPI Satellite Account utilizes a mid-range concept of the non-profit institutions sector that uses components of the “Structural Operational” definition used in the Johns Hopkins Comparative Non-profit sector Project to clarify the SNA definition, particularly with respect to the borders between NPIs and both corporations and governments. Three of the components of the structural-operational definition can provide the needed clarification. In the first place, the “Institutionally separate from government” criterion places additional emphasis on the non-governmental nature of NPIs, a crucial feature in most understandings of that set of institutions.

- (a) In the second place, “the self-governing” criterion usefully distinguishes NPIs from organizations that are essentially controlled by other entities, whether government or corporation.

- (b) Finally, the “non-compulsory” element of the “voluntary” criterion distinguishes NPIs from entities that people belong to by birth or legal necessity that distinguishes, NPIs from families, tribes and other similar entities, and represents another central feature of the common understanding of those organizations.

1.4 NPIs in India

Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation has decided to initiate various measures, to implement the UN Handbook on the NPI, which include computerization of the records of Registrars of societies on NPIs, and compilation of satellite accounts for the NPI sector in India. The National Accounts Division of the CSO has been given the responsibility of the said work, which would be completed within a time frame of 30 months. State DES is entrusted to conduct the survey on NPIs. The survey is proposed to be conducted in two phases, i.e., listing and detailed survey.

This report is based on the first phase (listing) of the survey conducted in Kerala by the Department of Economics and Statistics. The listing work has been done by collecting details of Registered Non profit Institutions from District Registrar offices.

Chapter II

Non-profit Institutions in Kerala

2.1 Kerala Economy

Kerala, known as ‘God’s own country’ invites the attention of the whole world by its rich and varied cultural heritage. Kerala, with its high literacy rate and improved health standards and comparatively better socio-economic situations is at par with the developed countries of the world in several development indicators. At the same time the per capita income and GDP are very low in comparison with developed countries.

Agriculture and allied activities remain the dominant source of livelihood in the state. A predominant feature of agriculture in the state is the cultivation of cash crops. It is a leading producer of coconut, rubber, pepper, cardamom, ginger, cocoa, cashew, arecanut and coffee. It is the largest producer of rubber in the country, accounting for 85 per cent of the country's total land under rubber cultivation. Providing employment to 1.73 million people, the state is the third highest in the number of small-scale industries (258,000) in the country. The predominance of cash crop cultivation has led to the growth of a number of agro-based industries engaged in food, rubber, cashew and coir processing.

The state's traditional strength in tourism coupled with its emergence as an IT destination has given a fillip to the services sector. The tourism sector accounted Its unique culture and traditions, coupled with its varied demography, has made Kerala one of the most popular tourist destinations in the world. Growing at a rate of 13.31%, the tourism industry is a major contributor to the state's economy

In a state of over 4 million unemployed which accounts 12 percent, one Keralite worker in ten now works overseas. The largest numbers work in construction, although high literacy allows some Keralites to secure office work. Foreign remittances augment the state’s economic output by nearly 25 percent.

The socio economic empowerment initiatives under Kudumbashree in Kerala have been emerged as a hope for the millions of rural poor, who have remained without having much role in the development efforts and decision making chance for participating the development process.

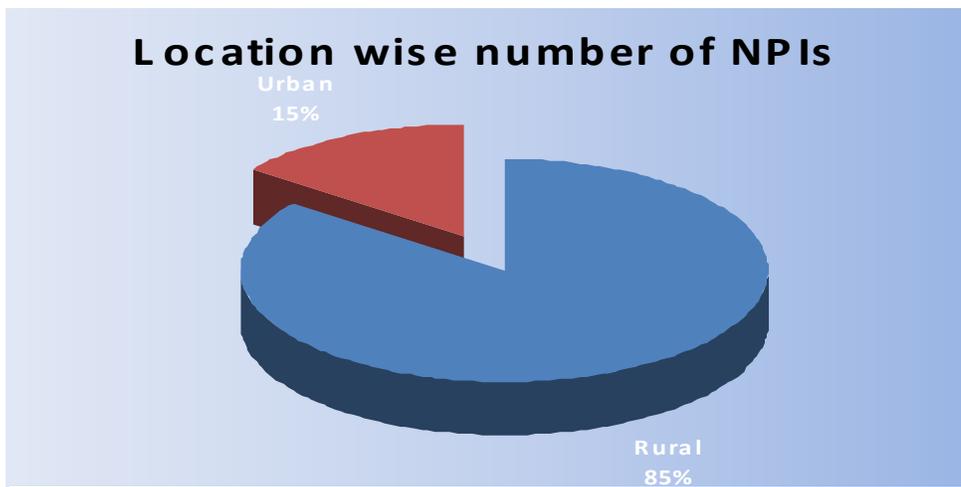

Despite its achievements, state faces low industrial development and high levels of unemployment. The educational reforms failed to make a direct mark on the state, as people were left with no option but to go abroad for work options. Today, with over 25% of the population of the state living abroad, the policy in effect, created a brain drain scenario.

2.2 Listing Work of NPIs in Kerala

The listing work of NPIs in Kerala was started in September 2008. State level and regional level training were conducted before the listing work. The listing of NPIs was done by the officers in District offices of Economics and Statistics in the 14 Districts. Details are collected from the registers kept in the offices of District Registrars in the prescribed format and data entry was done in the District offices of Economics and Statistics.

Name with address, register number with year, Governing body members (male and female), activity, location (rural or urban), Act under which the society is registered etc of every NPIs were collected during the listing work.

The total number of NPIs registered in Kerala till March 2008 under different acts are 326392. Out of which, 278644 are in rural area and 47748 are in urban area. That is about 85.37% of the NPIs were registered from rural areas and the rest from urban area. Thiruvananthapuram district is at the top according to the number NPIs registered from rural and urban areas. According to the number of NPIs registered, Kasaragod and Waynad are at the bottom in rural and urban areas respectively. Combining the rural and urban information on number of NPIs, Thiruvananthapuram is at the top and Waynad is at the bottom.

2.4 Year wise Registration

Majority of the NPIs were registered after 1970. Out 326392 NPIs, only 4870 NPIs were registered before 1970. This is only about 1.5 % of the total NPIs. In the table in the appendix, we can see that the entities in the row against some districts are zeroes, as the districts are formed after the year. Considering the number of districts of NPIs registered after 1970, about 36.27% of the total NPIs were registered in the last decade of the 20th Century. In the present decade we can accept the same trend in the number of NPIs registered. The Year wise details of the number of number of NPIs registered in Rural and Urban area are given in the tables 1 and 2.

11. Business and Professional Association, Unions.
12. Not else where classified

133834 (41.%) of NPIs registered in Kerala are active in social services. This is the highest according to activities of the NPIs. The number of NPIs active in law advocacy and politics, Philanthropic intermediates and international activities are comparatively small. When we analyze the district wise details, it can be seen that the activities of majority of the NPIs in northern districts are not social services. In these districts majority of the NPIs are active in culture and recreation or Business and professional assistors. But in Southern districts the main activity of more than 59% of NPIs are in social service. Considering the number of NPIs all over Kerala, the main activity of NPIs are seems to be social service, this is due to the dominance of number of social service NPIs in southern districts.

In table 5 of the appendix, District wise, major activity wise and sector wise number of non-profit institutions according to year of registration are given. It can be seen from the table that for majority of the activities, line portion of the number of NPIs has been set up in the decade of 1991-2000. Highest number of NPIs those active in Health oriented activities and in environmental activities also came into existence in the period 2001-2005. All NPIs active in Law, advocacy and Politics have been established after 1970.

2.7 Governing body Members

Each NPI is governing by a member or a group of members. About 28.68 lakh persons are included in the governing bodies of all NPIs operating in Kerala. About 10.28 lakh women are engaged in the proper functioning of the NPIs. It is about 35.85% of the total number of governing body members. The percentage of women governing body members in rural areas is about 37.05% and that in the urban area is 28.87%. That is women participation in the NPIs in rural sector is more than that in the urban sector. From the details collected it is clear that average number of governing body members per NPI is higher for NPIs active in the area of ‘Culture and Recreation’.

2.8 Conclusion

In the first phase of the NPI survey, all the NPIs registered till March 2008 are listed. 3.26 lakh of NPIs enlisted through the survey. The number of NPIs per square km is approximately 8. The contribution of NPIs in the State Domestic Product will be studied in the second phase of the Survey, which is in progress. This survey is expected to give all the financial aspects of the NPIs registered. Index-I
