P R E F A C E

Kerala stands in the fore-front among the Indian states in providing curative and preventive medical care to the public. To supplement health care, private medical institutions are also coming up. But many of them are concentrating in the urban and semi-urban areas. Smt. K. Parukutty Amma, Manpower Officer, Department of Health Services attempts to analyse the rural urban distribution, inpatient facilities, special facilities etc. under the three systems of medicine viz. Allopathy, Ayurveda, and Homeopathy in public sector. It is hoped that this study will be useful to the Planners and ADMINISTRATORS for future planning and policy making.

N. GEORGE JOHN,

Director of Economics and Statistics.

Trivandrum,

8.10.1985.

1.1. Introduction:

Kerala occupies a prominent place among the states in providing Health Care Services to the public. The percapita expenditure on Health management programmes have ever been on the increase. The Rural - Urban composition of Health Care facilities in the State is an important aspect of a meaningful health planning strategy. The urban concentration of medical facilities may deny 'distributive justice' to the rural majority. In a country, with more than 81% of the population living in rural areas, it is useful only if hospitals and medical services are distributed throughout the country so as to provide facilities to all the people uniformly. In this context, it was found worthwhile to examine the Rural-Urban Distribution of Health facilities in the State.

1.2. Rural - Urban milieu of the State and population

Kerala has an area of 38,863 sq.kms. of which 94.70% of the area is Rural and 5.30% urban. Thus the state's rural area is more than 18 times that of urban. In respect of rural area, among districts, Idukki stands first and Alleppey the last. With respect to urban area Ernakulam District stands first and Kottayam last. Wynad district has no urban area.

Regarding total population, Trivandrum ranks first and Wynad last. Rural population is highest in Malappuram and lowest in Wynad. Urban population is highest in Ernakulam and lowest in Kasargode. Wynad district has no urban population. The Rural-Urban break up of area and population is given in Table I and II.

1.3. Objectives:

The main objectives of the study are

1. to examine the Rural - Urban distribution of Medical institutions, medical manpower, inpatient facilities and speciality facilities under the three systems of Allopathy, Ayurveda and Homeopathy and
2. to evaluate the relative role of the above three systems in extending medicare in Rural and Urban areas of the state.

1.4. Methodology & Coverage:

Rural - Urban breakup of population is taken on the basis of 1981 census. Allopathic, Ayurvedic and Homeopathic systems of medicine are covered in this study. Secondary data available with the Directorates of the three systems added by the information furnished by the District Medical Officers have been used for this study.

1.5. Limitations:

Medical Services under Private Sector is not covered in this study.

1.6. Period of the Study:

This study was taken up in June 1984 and completed in 12 months' time.

1.7. Rural - Urban Distribution of Medical Institutions:

The Rural urban distribution of Medical Institutions under the three systems is given in Table III.

/contd. . .4/

The above table reveals that 56.46% of the total number of institutions are under Allopathic systems, 30.86% under Ayurvedic and 12.68% under Homeopathic system. Rural-Urban break up of the these three systems also maintains more or less the same proportion as above.

Population served by an institution is one of the factors to be considered for the establishment of additional institutions in an area. We have on the whole 1766 medical institutions under the three systems of medicine which works out to one institution per 14413 population.

The table shown below gives the details of population (1981 census) served by an Institution.

Table IV

Population served by an Institution

District	Total	Rural	Urban
Trivandrum	14422	13472	18222
Quilon	18124	17345	25909

Kasaragod	10271	10122	14333
State	14413	13032	26654

A close scrutiny of the above table shows that the total population served by a Government institution is highest in Kozhikode district followed by Quilon district. In respect of rural area, population is highest in Quilon district followed by Kottayam, Malappuram and Kozhikode districts and in the case of urban population Pathanamthitta ranks first followed by Cannanore & Kozhikode district.

Rural urban breakup of the medical institutions under the 3 systems of medicine may help to measure the extent of disparity in providing medical service facilities. The following table gives the rural & urban breakup of the institutions.

* Institutions with inpatient facilities.

(contd..8)

Out of 429 hospitals in the rural areas 365 institutions (85%) are under Allopathic system 60 (14%) under Ayurvedic system and only 4 (1%) under Homeopathic system. The corresponding figures in urban area are 83 (61%), 33 (24%) and 20 (15%) respectively. Unlike the other two systems of medicine inpatient facilities for Homeopathic system of medicine is much less in rural area than in urban area. No inpatient facilities for Homeopathic treatment are available both rural and urban areas in Pathanamthitta district.

The above table also shows that there are 1158 dispensaries in the rural area. 529 of these dispensaries (45.7%) are under allopathic system. 440 (35%) under Ayurvedic system and 189 (16.3%) under homeopathic system.

A statement showing number of panchayats having institutions under different systems are given in Appendix-I.

It is seen that there are no medical institutions in the public sector in 8 panchayats. The names of such panchayats are Kunnathur in Quilon district, Meenadam in Kottayam district, Kottanad in Pathanamthitta district, Mookkannoor in Ernakulam district, Kuttampuzha in Idukki district, Vallathol Nagar in Trichur Karyasseri in Kozhikode, Noolpuzha in Wynad district.

It would be advisable to have atleast one institution in these panchayats so as to provide necessary medical care to those people residing in these panchayats.

14. Kasargode	104	13	117	8	3	7
STATE	2906	2227	5133	7	2	5

It can be seen from the above table, that the target fixed by Mudaliar committee in respect of total population has been achieved only in Trivandrum district. It also reveals that the doctor - population ratio for the state as a whole is 5000 as against 3500 fixed by the committee. In respect of Rural area the ratio is as high as 7000. In Idukki, Palghat and Kozhikode districts there is only one doctor for 10000 rural population. It is relevant in this context to examine the possibility of posting additional doctors especially in the rural areas so as to provide more facilities to the people in the rural areas.

An attempt has been made in the following table to assess the distribution of medical personnel under each system of medicine in the rural and urban areas of various districts.

				(81%)					(14%)

The above table reveals that out of the total number of 5133 medical personnel 81% are under Allopathic, 14% under Ayurvedic and the remaining 5% under Homeopathic system. It can be seen that comparatively large number of doctors under Allopathic system in Trivandrum, Alleppey, Kottayam and Kozhikode districts are working in the urban area. This may be due to the assistance of Medical Colleges in those districts.

Availability of inpatient facilities is an important factor in medical care. The following tables gives the details of distribution of beds and the bed-population ratio in the rural and urban areas of various districts.

The above table shows that eventhough we have achieved the bed population ratio recommended by the Mudaliar committee (ie. 1 per 1000 population) on the whole, we have yet to achieve the bed population ratio in the rural areas of all districts excepting Alleppey, Kottayam, and Trichur districts. The bed population ratio is much less than that of the state in Idukki, Malappuram and Pathanamthitta districts. Necessary steps have to be taken to increase the number of beds especially in the rural areas of the districts where it is much lower than the recommended norms.

An attempt has been made in the following table to asses districtwise - distribution of beds under the different systems of medicine in the rural and urban areas.

District-wise distribution of number of beds as on 1-1-1985 under the different system.

(contd..17)

The above table reveals that only 42% of the beds are in rural areas inspite of the existence of some Medical Colleges. The table also shows that 93.3% of the total number of beds in the rural area is under Allopathic system. Their respective percentages in Ayurvedic and Homeopathic systems are 5.7 and 1 respectively. Thus inpatient facilities are negligible in Ayurvedic and Homeopathic system when compared to the Allopathic systems. In the case of urban area also the position is more or less the same.

The number of beds in rural area is more in Pathanamthitta Kottayam, Idukki, Trichur, Palghat, Cannanore and Kasargode districts. Regarding Ayurvedic system inpatient facilities are not available in Pathanamthitta district. In this context it is worthwhile to mention that inpatient facilities are available in rural areas in respect of Homeopathic systems only in Trivandrum, Kottayam, Idukki and Wynad districts. There are no facilities under homeopathic system in Pathanamthitta and Kasargode districts.

For better diagnosis and treatment, people prefer specialists. Government have taken interest in posting specialists in various districts and taluk hospitals in the state. Generally specialists prefer urban areas when compared to the rural areas considering practice and monetary benefit. Table given below shows the distribution of specialists in the various districts.

Table-X

Distribution of specialised Manpower in Rural area (districtwise)

13. Cannanore	5	43	264	45
14. Kasargode	10	21	83	42
State	290	1162	71	22

According to the above table, only 290 out of 1162 specialists are working in the rural areas. The specialist-population ratio works out to one for 22000 population for the state as a whole. The ratio for the rural area is one for 71000 people. It may also be noted that in the districts of Trivandrum, Alleppey, Kottayam and Kozhikode the proportionate population against the specialists facilities is less than that of the state. The existence of the Medical Colleges in these districts contribute more specialists facilities which resulted the variation in the specialist-population ratio.

In ~~ix~~ respect of rural area excepting Kottayam Trichur and Wynad district, the population per doctor is much higher than the state average. In Malappuran district there is only one specialist for 318000 people as against the state average of 71000 people.

Summary and Conclusion

1. This study on the rural-urban distribution of Medical institutions and medical and para medical personnel was found necessary to assess whether one state has achieved the norms prescribed by the Health & Planning Committee popularly known as Mudaliar committee.
2. Findings are based on the necessary data available with the Directorate of the three systems of medicine (viz. Allopathy, Ayurveda & Homeopathy).
3. Rural area forms about 94.6% of the total extent of Kerala and 81.2% of the population (1981 census) are being in the rural area.
4. About 90% of the total number of 1766 institutions as on 1.4.1984 are in the rural areas. More than 56% of them are under Allopathic systems.
5. Institutions with inpatient facilities irrespective of the number of beds are classified as Hospitals. 365 hospitals under Allopathy, 60 hospitals under Ayurveda and 4 institutions under Homeopathy are functioning in the rural areas. Hospitals under homeopathic system are available in the rural areas of Trivandrum, Idukki, Ernakulam and Kozhikode districts only.

6. The doctor - population ratio recommended by the Mudaliar committee has been achieved only by Trivandrum district. As such it is relevant to increase medical facilities in all the districts especially in the rural areas.

7. The bed population ratio for 1984 is 1.3 per 1000 for the state as a whole against the recommended norms of 1 per 1000 population.

8. Out of 1162 specialists working under various institutions only 290 are working in the rural areas. 118 of them are working in the rural areas of Kottayam district.

9. Only 50 panchayats out of 1002 panchayats are having institutions under the three systems. There are no institutions under any system in 8 panchayats. It would be advisable to have atleast one institution under any system in these panchayats so as to provide necessary medicare to the people residing in these panchayats.
