PREFACE

Price is one of the major components affecting the nation's economy. It is the value expressed in terms of the unit of money at a specified time and place. The impact of price movements not only affect the standard of living of the people but also has a significant role on project formulation, investment decisions, changes in Wages, Salary structure etc. Prices data is generally classified into three – Farm prices, wholesale prices and Retails prices. The uses of prices data in constructing indices namely consumer price Index Numbers, Wage Index Numbers, parity Index Numbers and wholesale price Index Numbers also assume significance.

The Publication titled “PRICE STATISTICS 2005” is a compilation of various types of prices data and the indices for the Year 2005. It is hoped that this publication will serve as useful source information on price.
