PREFACE

The systematic study of prices is essential for understanding the dynamics of an economy and the well-being of society. Price movements reflect not only changes in demand and supply but also broader economic conditions, consumption behaviour, and market efficiency. An in-depth analysis of these movements helps policymakers, researchers, and planners to identify emerging trends, assess market stability, and design appropriate interventions

The Department of Economics & Statistics has been consistently engaged in the collection, classification, and analysis of price information across various sectors. Prices are broadly categorised into wholesale, retail, and miscellaneous, thereby ensuring comprehensive coverage of essential commodities and non-traditional items alike. Such data form the basis for deriving key indicators that offer valuable insights into both short-term fluctuations and long-term price behaviour.

This publication, "Report on Analysis of Miscellaneous Prices – 2023", highlights the trends in a diverse set of commodities ranging from food and household essentials to non-conventional items such as scrap, waste paper, spices, coir products, and coconut husk. By incorporating 50 essential items, 28 additional commodities, and weekly observations of key goods, the report provides a holistic overview of miscellaneous price movements.

The preparation of this report has been a collaborative effort by the dedicated officers of the Price Division within the Directorate. Their commitment and diligence have been instrumental in bringing out this publication successfully.

CEREALS

CEREALS/Rice (red) open market Matta (₹ /Kg.)

The yearly average price of red rice (Matta) in the open market shows a clear regional variation across Kerala. In the northern districts, prices remain relatively lower, mostly between ₹45–48 per kg, with Kasargod (₹45.08), Malappuram (₹45.73), Thrissur (₹45.33), Wayanad (₹46.65), Palakkad (₹46.80), Kannur (₹47.54), and Kozhikode (₹48.27) all falling in this range. In contrast, the central and southern districts report significantly higher prices, ranging from ₹54–56 per kg, as seen in Ernakulam (₹56.24), Idukki (₹55.47), Kollam (₹55.53), Alappuzha (₹54.72), Pathanamthitta (₹54.70), and Kottayam (₹54.18). Thiruvananthapuram (₹46.88) shows a relatively moderate price, closer to the northern trend. This indicates that northern Kerala enjoys comparatively lower prices, while the central and southern parts of the state face higher price levels.

CEREALS/Rice (red) open market Nadan (₹ /Kg)

The yearly average price of red rice (Nadan variety) in the open market shows notable regional variations across Kerala. The lowest recorded price is in Kannur at ₹40.60 per kg. Prices rise moderately in Palakkad (₹46.80) and Thrissur (₹45.13), while Kollam reports a similar level at ₹46.95. Wayanad displays a higher average at ₹48.00, In contrast, central and high-range districts record sharper increases, with Idukki reporting ₹53.84 and Pathanamthitta reaching the highest at ₹54.70 per kg. The data highlights a general upward trend in the midland and highland regions compared to the coastal and northern districts.

CEREALS/Rice (red)open market Chamba (₹ /Kg.)

Red rice (Chamba variety) in the open market is limited, with prices reported only from the southern districts of Kerala. Kollam recorded an annual average price of ₹46.51 per kg, while Thiruvananthapuram reported a closely comparable figure of ₹46.05. This near-uniformity in prices across the two districts suggests stable for the Chamba variety in the southern region. Overall, Chamba rice shows a consistent price trend where it is available, with no significant variation between neighboring districts.

CEREALS/Rice(red)open market Rose (₹ /Kg.)

The yearly average prices of red rice (Rose variety) display significant variations across Kerala. Among the lower price ranges, Thrissur records the cheapest rate at ₹44.56 per kg, followed closely by Kollam (₹46.41), Palakkad (₹46.80), and Kannur (₹47.00). Northern district Kasargod shows a higher rate of ₹51.83, while Kottayam reports ₹51.89, positioning them in the mid-range bracket. The most notable price levels are observed in the central and southern markets, with Ernakulam at ₹56.24 and Thiruvananthapuram at ₹55.09, Pathanamthitta also reports a relatively high price of ₹54.70. Overall, the data suggests that while some districts maintain moderate pricing around ₹45–₹48, urban centers and southern districts experience elevated price levels.

Rice(red)open market Massoori (₹ /Kg.)

The available data for the Massoori variety of red rice is highly limited, with price information reported only from Malappuram district. Here, the yearly average price stands at ₹54.21 per kg, positioning it in the higher range compared to many other red rice varieties traded in Kerala. The absence of data from other districts suggests that Massoori rice is either not commonly traded across the state or has a localized presence concentrated in select markets like Malappuram. Overall, the data indicates that Massoori red rice is a niche variety in Kerala's open market, with restricted distribution but relatively higher pricing where available.

CEREALS/Rice(white)open mrkt Andhra Vella (₹ /Kg.)

The yearly average prices of white rice (Andhra Vella variety) in Kerala show a moderate but clear regional variation. The lowest price is observed in Kasargod at ₹38.90 per kg, followed by Malappuram at ₹40.70, indicating more affordable availability in parts of northern Kerala. Mid-range pricing is seen in districts like Kottayam (₹42.46), Thrissur (₹43.20), Kozhikode (₹44.83), and Kannur (₹45.10). In contrast, southern and highland districts reflect higher rates, with Kollam (₹46.68), Thiruvananthapuram (₹46.96), Idukki (₹47.63), Ernakulam (₹48.63), and Pathanamthitta (₹48.67). The highest prices are reported in Alapuzha (₹50.35) and Wayanad (₹50.26). Rice(white)open mrkt Nepal Vella (₹ /Kg.)

The price data for Nepal Vella, a white rice variety, is extremely limited, with information available only from Malappuram district. Here, the yearly average price is reported at ₹37.74 per kg, which is relatively low compared to other white rice varieties such as Andhra Vella. The absence of price data from other districts indicates that this variety is either not widely cultivated or traded in Kerala, and its presence may be confined to select markets with localized demand. Overall, Nepal Vella emerges as a niche rice variety in the state's open market, offering comparatively lower prices but with highly restricted regional distribution.

Coconut oil (KLF Nirmal) (₹ /Ltr.)

The yearly average prices of Coconut Oil (KLF Nirmal) are reported only in a limited number of districts, Both Palakkad and Kollam recorded an average price of ₹170.00, while data from other districts are not available. This suggests that KLF Nirmal coconut oil is not widely reported across Kerala, and where available, it is positioned at a relatively premium price point compared to other branded or loose coconut oil varieties. The uniform price in the reported districts also indicates stable pricing without major fluctuations.

STATEMENT SHOWING THE MONTHLY AVERAGE PRICES OF COCONUT-HUSK (RAW) PREVAILED AT COIR PRODUCING CENTRES IN KERALA FOR THE YEAR 2023. Unit: Rs/1000 Nos.

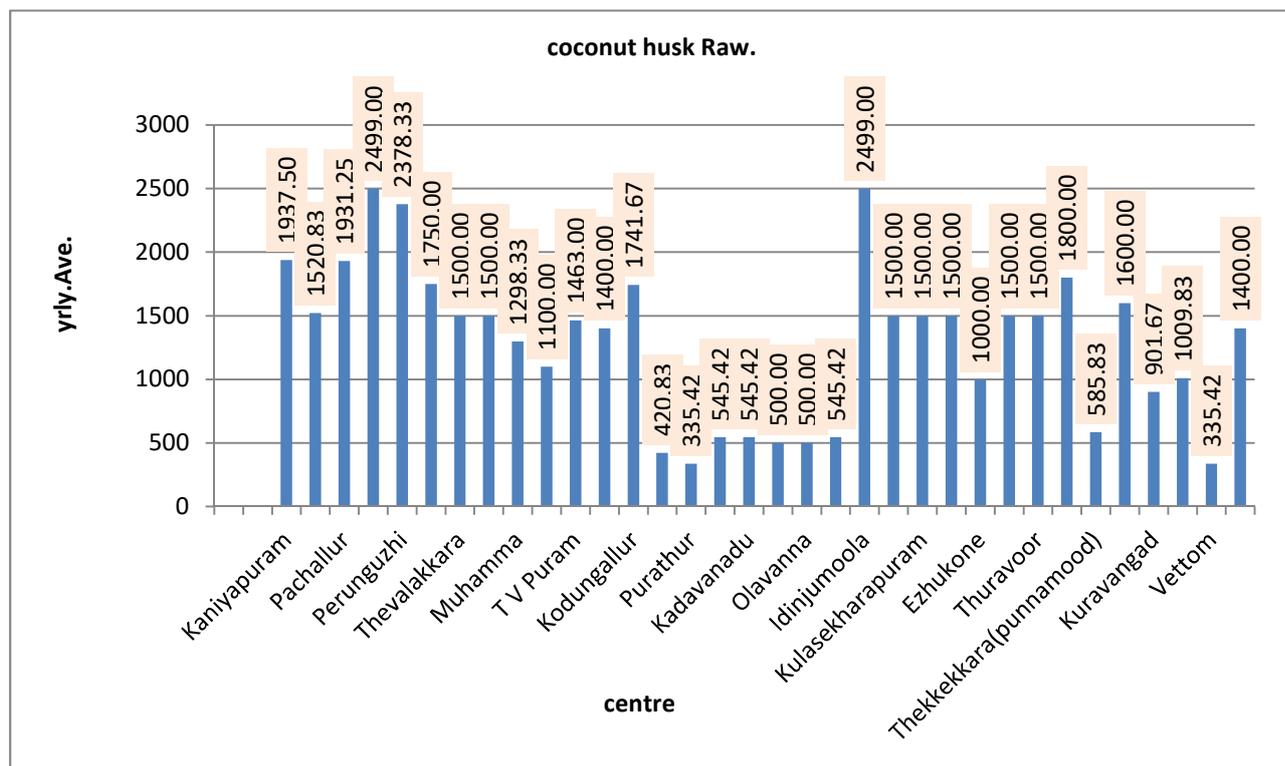

(Detailed table is attached in PRICE STATISTICS2023Page No: 851-852)

The average yearly prices of raw coconut husk showed a wide range across Kerala's production and market centres. The highest recorded prices were ₹2,499.00 per quintal at Anchuthengu and Idinjumoola, followed closely by Perunguzhi at ₹2,378.33 and Kaniyapuram at ₹1,937.50. On the lower end, Vallikkunnu and Vettom reported the lowest prices at ₹335.42, with several centres like Annassery and Olavanna also at ₹500.00. The price gap of over ₹2,160 between the highest and lowest points indicates substantial regional disparities, likely influenced by proximity to coir-processing units, quality of husk, and local demand from the coir industry. While mid-range prices between ₹1,400 and ₹1,800 were common in many centres, extreme highs and lows highlight the fragmented nature of this market.

STATEMENT SHOWING THE AVERAGE MONTHLY PRICES OF DIFFERENT VARIETIES OF COIR YARN PREVAILING AT THE COIR PRODUCING CENTRES

(Detailed table is attached in PRICE STATISTICS2023Page No: 850)

The average yearly prices of different varieties of coir yarn showed substantial variation, reflecting differences in fibre quality, processing methods, and market demand. The highest-priced varieties were Anjengo 240 at ₹8,785.63 per quintal and Vettoor (SPL)-200 at ₹8,700.00, indicating premium market positioning. Muppiriyan also commanded a strong price at ₹6,650.69, while Beypore Retted-90 (Handspun) averaged ₹6,200.00, showing the value addition of handspinning and retting. Mid-range varieties like Vaikom Yarn-160 (₹4,975.00), Vaikom Yarn-140 (₹4,733.33), and Quilandy Unretted-130-140 (₹4,800.00) catered to broader market segments. On the lower end, Retta Quilandy-Unretten 130-140 (Moto Tradi) averaged ₹3,500.00, suggesting more economical production. Overall, the wide price spread—from ₹3,500.00 to ₹8,785.63—highlights the influence of variety type, fibre treatment (retted vs. unretted), and production technique on coir yarn valuation in Kerala's markets.

DISTRICT WISE STATE AVERAGE PRICE OF WASTE PAPER and Other Scrap Items for the year 2023

The state average prices for waste paper and other scrap items in Kerala showed clear differences based on material type and market demand. Among paper waste, English newspapers averaged ₹19.70 per kilogram, slightly higher than Malayalam newspapers at ₹19.50, while weekly magazines and gazettes were lower at ₹12.00 and ₹12.70 respectively. Notebooks fetched the highest price among paper products at ₹20.50, followed by textbooks at ₹13.90, with “other items” in the paper category averaging just ₹7.30. In the scrap metals category, copper commanded the highest value at ₹597.30 per kilogram, followed by bronze at ₹419.60 and brass at ₹412.10, reflecting strong demand for non-ferrous metals. Aluminium averaged ₹138.40, while lead was close behind at ₹133.10. Iron and steel were comparatively lower at ₹30.10 and ₹45.60 per kilogram, consistent with their wider availability and lower resale value. This data underscores the significant price premium for high-demand non-ferrous metals compared to paper and ferrous scrap items.

Statement Showing the Districtwise Rate of Waste Paper and Other Scrap Items

The price of waste paper and other scrap items shows a striking disparity across districts in Kerala. Malappuram stands out with an exceptionally high average rate of ₹597.34, followed closely by Wayanad at ₹419.57 and Kozhikode at ₹412.12. Palakkad (₹138.41) and Kasargod (₹133.08) also record elevated prices compared to the state's lower range. On the other end of the spectrum, Ernakulam reports the lowest rate at ₹7.33, with Pathanamthitta (₹11.96), Alappuzha (₹12.69), and Idukki (₹13.90) also showing subdued prices. Mid-range rates are seen in districts like Thiruvananthapuram (₹19.74), Kollam (₹19.53), Kottayam (₹20.45), Thrissur (₹30.13), and Kannur (₹45.61). Overall, the wide gap in prices—from single digits to nearly ₹600—indicates a highly localized and uneven scrap market in Kerala.

NUTMEG WITH SHELL

The price analysis of nutmeg with shell across four districts—Idukki, Kottayam, Wayanad, and Trissur—shows noticeable fluctuations throughout the year. Idukki recorded the highest yearly average price at ₹268.38, followed closely by Wayanad (₹267.98) and Trissur (₹266.15), while Kottayam had the lowest average at ₹258.46. Prices in all districts peaked around January to March, then showed a declining trend during the monsoon months (June to August). Wayanad showed the sharpest drop during this period, hitting a low of ₹212.5 in August. Overall, the data reflects a clear seasonal price pattern, with higher prices in the early months and a dip mid-year before a slight recovery towards the year-end.

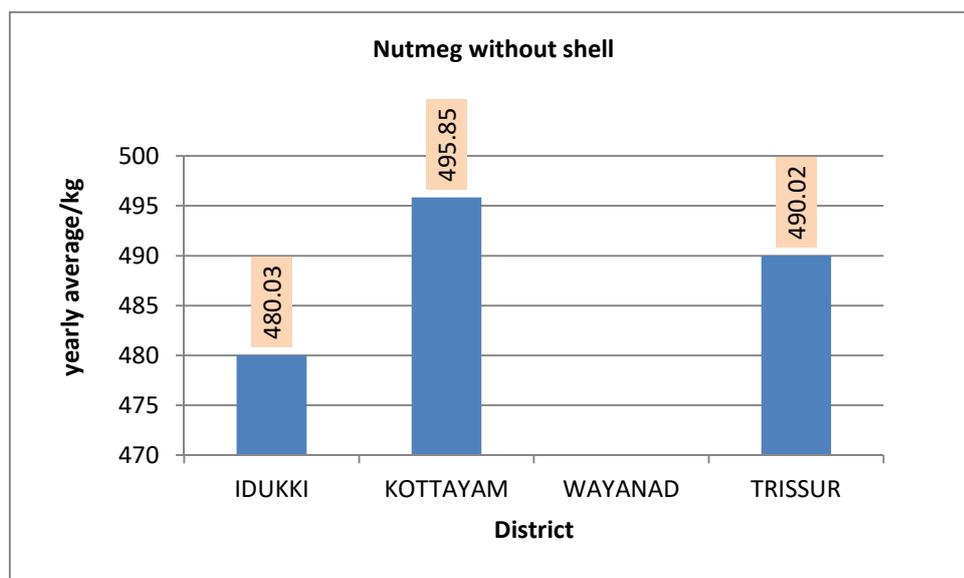

NUTMEG WITH SHELL	YEARLY AVERAGE
IDUKKI	268.38
KOTTAYAM	258.46
WAYANAD	267.98
TRISSUR	266.15
AVERAGE	265.24

NUTMEG WITHOUT SHELL

The price analysis of nutmeg without shell across Idukki, Kottayam, and Trissur reveals significant seasonal variations. Kottayam had the highest yearly average price at ₹495.85, followed by Idukki at ₹480.03, and Trissur at ₹490.02. Prices were highest in the first quarter (January to March), peaking at ₹590 in Idukki and ₹612.5 in Trissur, before experiencing a steady decline during mid-year, reaching the lowest in September and October (e.g., ₹406.25 in Idukki and ₹431.25 in Trissur). Overall, the data shows a clear downward trend mid-year, followed by slight recovery toward December.

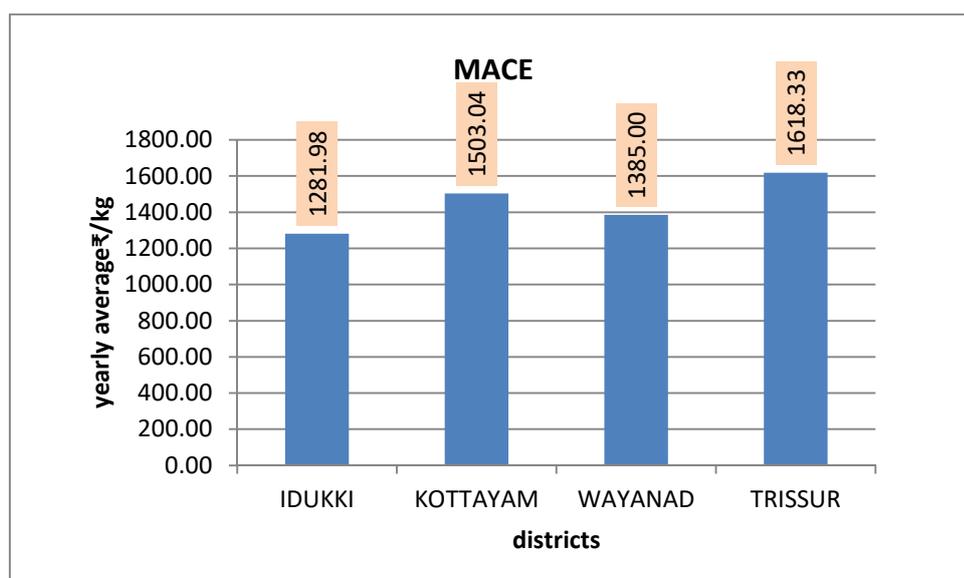

NUTMEG WITHOUT SHELL	YEARLY AVERAGE
IDUKKI	480.03
KOTTAYAM	495.85
WAYANAD
TRISSUR	490.02

MACE

The price analysis of Mace across Idukki, Kottayam, Wayanad, and Trissur shows substantial variation. Trissur recorded the highest yearly average at ₹1618.33, followed by Kottayam (₹1503.04), Wayanad (₹1385.00), and Idukki (₹1281.98), indicating strong regional price differences. Prices were highest in the first quarter (January to March) across all districts, with Kottayam peaking at ₹1980 in March. A significant mid-year dip is seen especially in Idukki (e.g., ₹406.25 in October) and Kottayam (₹1000 in July), likely due to supply-demand fluctuations or quality variations. While prices slightly recovered towards year-end, they remained below the initial peak. Overall, Trissur demonstrated more stable and higher prices,

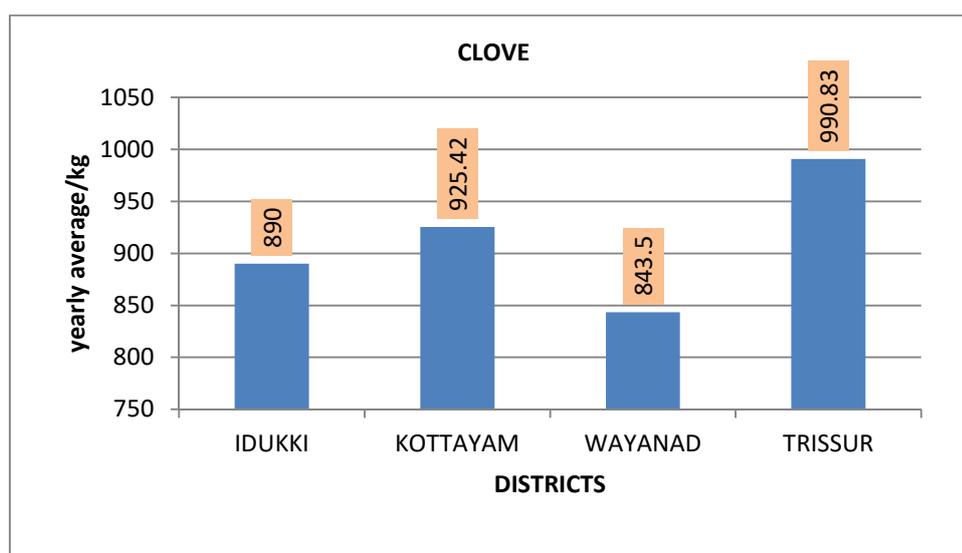

MACE	YEARLY AVERAGE
IDUKKI	1281.98
KOTTAYAM	1503.04
WAYANAD	1385.00
TRISSUR	1618.33

CLOVE

The price analysis of clove across the four districts Idukki, Kottayam, Wayanad, and Trissur shows notable differences in both levels and trends over the year. Trissur consistently maintained higher prices, with a yearly average of ₹990.83, indicating strong demand or premium quality supply. Kottayam followed at ₹925.42, while Idukki and Wayanad trailed with averages of ₹890 and ₹843.5, respectively. Prices in all regions were lowest in January and February, gradually increasing to peak levels from July to December, when most districts reached or exceeded ₹1000 per unit. Notably, Wayanad maintained consistently lower prices compared to others. Overall, the data highlights clear seasonal price rises mid-to-late year, and positions Trissur as the strongest clove market among the regions analyzed.

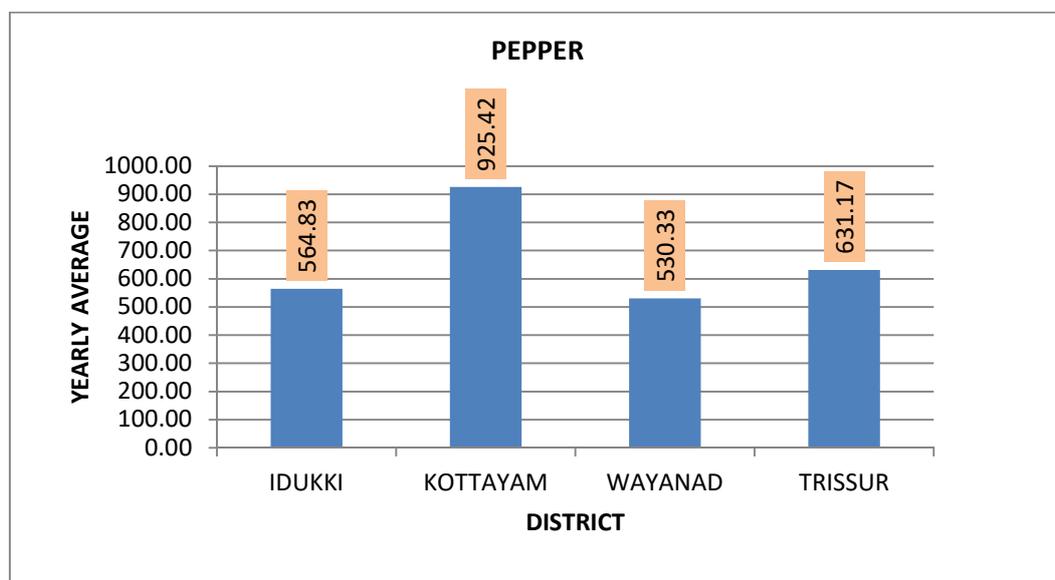

Months	Yearly Average
IDUKKI	890
KOTTAYAM	925.42
WAYANAD	843.5
TRISSUR	990.83

PEPPER

The pepper price analysis across Idukki, Kottayam, Wayanad, and Trissur reveals clear regional price disparities and seasonal trends. Kottayam recorded the highest yearly average at ₹925.42; showing consistently elevated prices throughout the year, especially peaking from August to December. Trissur followed with a yearly average of ₹631.17, maintaining stable mid-range prices from April onwards. Wayanad, with the lowest average at ₹530.33, exhibited lower prices across all months, indicating potential oversupply or lower quality. Idukki remained relatively stable with an average of ₹564.83, showing a price rise in the second half of the year. Overall, prices in all districts show an upward trend from July to October, likely tied to post-monsoon harvest dynamics. The data positions Kottayam as the most profitable market for pepper, while Wayanad appears to be the least.

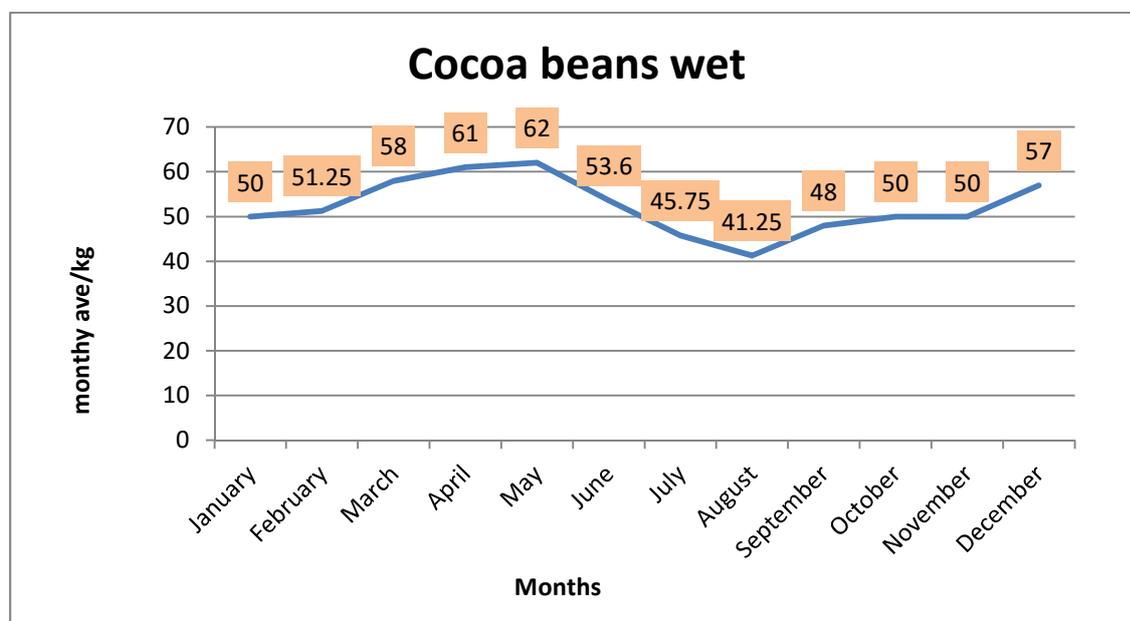

PEPPER	Yearly Average
IDUKKI	564.83
KOTTAYAM	925.42
WAYANAD	530.33
TRISSUR	631.17

COCOA

The price analysis of wet cocoa beans in Idukki shows clear seasonal variation throughout the year. Prices gradually increase from January (₹50) and peak in May (₹62). However, from June onward, there's a noticeable decline, hitting the lowest in August (₹41.25). Prices begin to recover slightly from September, reaching ₹57 in December. Overall, the data reflects a mid-year slump in cocoa bean prices, with higher values during the early and end months.

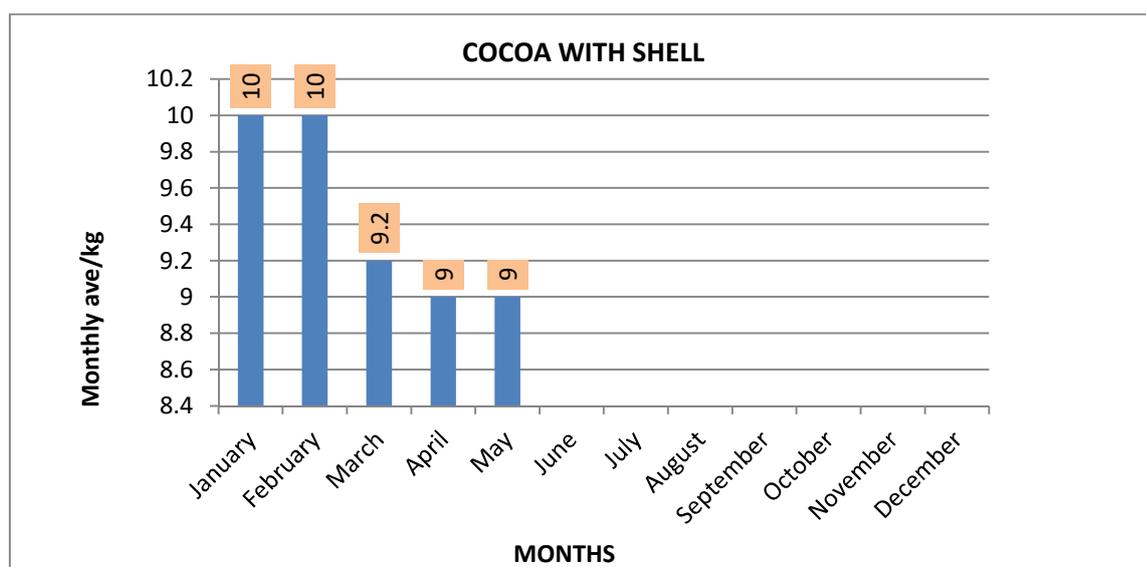

IDUKKI	January	February	March	April	May	June	July	August	September	October	November	December
Cocoa beans wet	50	51.25	58	61	62	53.6	45.75	41.25	48	50	50	57

COCOA BEAN DRY

The dry cocoa bean prices in Idukki and Wayanad show consistent trends with gradual monthly increases throughout the year. In Idukki, prices started at ₹210 in January, rising steadily to ₹268 in December. Wayanad followed a similar pattern but maintained lower prices overall, starting at ₹190 in January and reaching ₹238 in December. Despite this, Wayanad showed a more modest price increase compared to Idukki. The largest price gap between the two regions appears in May and December, highlighting regional differences in either bean quality, market access, or demand. Overall, Idukki consistently had higher prices suggesting it may be a premium cocoa-producing area.

Cocoa beans Dry	January	February	March	April	May	June	July	August	September	October	November	December
Idukki	210	210	213	220	228.75	226	223.75	227.5	225	226.25	230	268

VANILA

The price analysis of Vanila in Idukki and Kottayam reveals interesting stability and divergence patterns. Kottayam's prices were completely flat at ₹23 throughout the year, indicating a stable market without seasonal fluctuations. In contrast Idukki's prices started higher peaking at ₹26.5 in February, but then declined steadily from June reaching ₹20 from July through December showing a 20% drop from early highs. Meanwhile, Kottayam's consistent pricing may reflect stable price, steady demand, or less market volatility. Overall, the data highlights Idukki's price vulnerability compared to Kottayam's stability in the vanilla market.
