Preface

Over the last few decades, construction sector has become one of the key drivers of the economy of Kerala, in terms of both generation of income and creation of employment opportunities. This sector contributed nearly twelve per cent of the Gross State Domestic Product of Kerala in 2017-18. Since it being a basic need of human beings, providing safe and adequate housing facilities to the people is a cause of great concern for every welfare state. Various programmes, policies and initiatives are organized by the governments to meet this challenge. Investors in this sector, including individual builders, are keenly observing even minute changes in price, policies, laws, regulations etc. At the same time, ever-increasing density of concrete buildings is seen alarmingly by the environmentalists. In these circumstances, the statistics related to construction activities are of prime importance to Government, various stake holders, environmentalists and researchers alike. Along with the growth of construction sector, the need for reliable housing statistics has also increased considerably.

The department has been collecting, compiling and publishing building statistics of both rural and urban areas of Kerala from 2015-16 onwards. Data pertaining to the number of newly constructed buildings, classification of newly constructed buildings on the basis of type of ownership and type of roofing, density of newly constructed buildings, comparison with the data of previous years etc. are included in this report. Data are available at panchayat or municipality level itself. The database will be a guideline factor based on which the housing policies of the state have to be evolved and its efficacy monitored.

I congratulate field level officers of districts for their earnest effort in collecting the data pertaining to the field of Housing Statistics and the Labour & Housing Division of this office for their painstaking effort in compiling them.

Introduction

Housing conditions influence the quality of life of people in many ways: providing shelter, security, privacy and a space in which to relax, learn, work and live. The housing industry of India is one of the fastest growing sectors. Even after 73 years of independence, the country is still grappling with the growing shelter problem, especially of the poor. Adequate housing facility is a reflection of a nation's economic prosperity and social well-being of its citizens. The Union and state government is responsible for formulation and implementation of social housing schemes. Housing highlights various initiatives and schemes implemented by government for rural, urban and EWS housing. In the context of formulation of Housing policy and programmes, the need for reliable Housing statistics has increased considerably.

Building statistics help us to understand the present housing conditions and the impacts of the housing policies of the state and nation. The housing sector plays an important role in the socio-economic upliftment of a society and a crucial role in the economy of the country. As per the recommendations of National Statistical Commission (NSC) and direction from Government of Kerala, Department of Economics and Statistics has been collecting panchayat level building statistics (Rural sector) since 2001-2002. From 2015-2016 onwards department is collecting building statistics from all Local Bodies both rural and urban sector through district offices of Department of Economics & Statistics.

When the Male-Female ratio of ownership at district level is considered, the highest ratio is reported from Kozhikode (3.8:1) and the lowest from Kasargod (2:1) (Fig.3.3). It means that, even where the ratio is the lowest, the number of buildings in male ownership is at least double that of buildings in female ownership.

Chapter IV

Roofing of New Buildings

Roof of a building provides protection to its inhabitants from rain, snow, sunlight and other climatic extremities. Therefore, the roofing pattern of buildings in a region is usually determined by climatic conditions of that region and availability of roofing materials nearby. Advancements in technology have improved roofing styles always and globalization has made materials available everywhere in the world. Roofing pattern is dependent on the financial position of people also. When financial position improves, people prefer more durable materials for roofing. Thus roofing pattern reflects the standard of living of people in a society. Considering its significance, data regarding the type of roofing have been collected and classified into four categories- thatched, tiled, concrete and others.

1. Type of roofing

In 2017-18, 89.27% of the new buildings have concrete roofing, 3.22% have tiled roofing, 0.7% have thatched roofing and the remaining 6.80% have other type of roofing. The current trend of preferring concrete roof over other modes of roofing is obvious in the table. Of the total number of buildings newly built in the year, 89.27% have been built with concrete roof. 88% of rural buildings and 93.8% of urban buildings have concrete roofing.

Thatched buildings are built more in rural areas than in urban. Four districts, namely, Kollam, Pathanamthitta, Idukki and Kasaragod have reported Zero thatched buildings in their urban areas. 52% of all thatched buildings have been shared by two districts, Palakkad and Malappuram. The highest number of thatched buildings has been reported from Palakkad district (964) and the lowest from Alappuzha (41).

Tiled roofing has been a typical feature of traditional Kerala style of architecture. However, the share of this type of roofing decreases steadily in the State. In 2017-18, only 3.22% buildings have been newly built with tiled roofing. Among districts, Kollam (2451) has the highest share of buildings with tiled roofing, followed by Alappuzha (1304) and Thrissur district (262) has the least share of buildings with tiled roofing, followed by Idukki district (270).

Chapter V

COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS

1. Number of buildings newly constructed

During 2016-17, 389544 buildings were constructed in the State as a whole, of which 298395 were in rural areas and 91149 were in urban areas. During 2017-18, out of 370940 buildings constructed, 290465 are in rural areas and 80475 in urban areas. The rural- urban ratio of new buildings in the State has remained so close in these two years. In 2016-17 the ratio has been 3.3:1, and in 2017-18, 3.6:1.

The number of buildings newly constructed in rural sector steadily rose from the year 2010-11 to 2012-13 and then decreased steadily in the next three years up to 2015-16. In 2016-17, there was a slight step up during, but declined again in 2017-18.

2. Residential Buildings

When the share of residential buildings in the total number of buildings newly constructed in the State is considered, it can be seen that, there was a decline of nearly two per cent in rural areas and an increase of nearly one per cent in urban centres in 2017-18 over previous year. On the State as a whole also, there was a decline of nearly one per cent.

The number of non-residential buildings newly constructed in Kerala increases from 2010-11 to 2013-14 and shows a small decrease during the period between 2014-15 and 2015-16 and then increases again in the last two years.

The trend of constructing buildings with concrete roof is equally followed by the people irrespective of urban- rural difference. However, urban areas have a slightly higher share of buildings with concrete roof.
