BUILDING STATISTICS 2018-19

Department of Economics & Statistics

Preface

As the father of Indian planning Dr. M. Visvesvaraya noted in his book The Planned Economy for India, economic progress can be said to have a firm foundation, only when human actions are based upon facts instead of guesses. Statistics provide facts and these facts are the foundations of all solid structures of a planned economy. Statistical facts on housing and construction sectors are of immense importance as far as contemporary Indian economy is concerned. Provision for adequate housing facilities constitutes a key aspect of the general welfare efforts of both central and state governments in India. Similarly, it is important from the economic point of view since construction activities contribute fairly large share to the National and State Income.

Building Statistics of 2018-19 is relatively more significant for Kerala, because this data belongs to a year in which the State had suffered a massive flood, which thoroughly shook the foundations of its economy. However, figures show that the construction sector did not suffer much on account of this crisis. In 2018-19, this sector registered an annual growth of 13.27% in terms of the number of new buildings and 13.55% in terms of sectoral contribution to Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP).

The department has been collecting, compiling and publishing building statistics of both rural and urban areas of Kerala from 2015-16 onwards. Data pertaining to the number of newly constructed buildings, classification of newly constructed buildings on the basis of type of ownership and type of roofing, density of newly constructed buildings, comparison with the data of previous years etc. are included in this report. Data are available at panchayat/municipality/corporation level itself. The database will be a guideline factor based on which the housing policies of the state have to be evolved and its efficacy monitored.

I congratulate field level officers of districts for their earnest effort in collecting the data pertaining to the field of Housing Statistics and the Labour & Housing Division of this office for their painstaking effort in compiling them.

INTRODUCTION

Decent housing, at an affordable price in a safe environment, is a fundamental need and considered by many to be a human right. Ensuring this need is met, which is likely to alleviate poverty and social exclusion, is still a significant challenge. People living in households spend a considerable amount of their income on housing for a long time. Worldwide and especially in low-income countries, housing construction creates job opportunities for migrants to cities. On the social side, housing is, after food and medical care, the first need of vulnerable populations following natural and man-made disasters. Healthy children need healthy homes. Clean housing is critical to prevention and care of AIDS, tuberculosis, and malaria. Overcrowded homes are crucibles for disease. Housing is a basis for taxation and is thus a significant contributor to the fiscal health of local governments and their capacity to deliver basic urban services. Housing is a key input in economic, social and civic development and hence is a major driver of economic growth. In a nutshell, housing sector has a major impact on any country's macro economy. In the financial year 2018-19, Construction sector contributes 13.55% to gross state domestic product (GSDP).

As per the recommendations of National Statistical Commission and direction from the Government of Kerala, Department of Economics and Statistics has been collecting panchayat level building statistics (Rural Sector) since 2001-02. From 2015-16 onwards department is collecting building statistics from all Local Bodies both rural and urban sector through district offices of Economics and Statistics.

7. Type of roofing

The characteristics of a roof are dependent upon the purpose of the building that it covers, the available roofing materials and the local traditions of construction and wider concepts of architectural design and practice. Type of roofing is one of the indicators of standard of living of people and may be changed according to climate conditions and technology. The introduction of new materials and technology reasoned a drastic change in the roofing pattern of houses. People preferred low cost but stronger roofing pattern. As a result, thatched and tiled roofing diminishes slowly. During 2018-19, 375712 (89.42%) of buildings were built up with concrete roof. Only 2450 (0.58%) buildings were constructed with thatched roof and 14258 (3.39%) with tiled roof which reflects the increasing standard of living of people in Kerala.
